Novox MSX1 - microphone boom arm

Whether you are a musician, podcaster, youtuber or gamer recording or live streaming your voice, you need a solid and flexible microphone stand.

Novox MSX1 is a desk mount microphone boom arm for use in professional and project studios. It's the perfect companion for the Novox NC-1 series USB microphone, as well as most other standard microphones.

Novox MSX1 will not only bring practicality and convenience to your workstation – it will also streamline your work environment, creating a clean, professional looking space for video streaming, podcasting, and other on-camera work.

With an adjustable arm for up to 110 cm (43 inches) reach and 360 degrees of rotation, Novox MSX1 allows you to place your microphone precisely where you need it for optimal performance and minimal on-camera visibility.

The standard size thread is compatible with the Novox NC-1 stand mount, as well as most other standard microphone holders. It even comes with the most popular type of mic clip for handheld style microphones, as well as a thread diameter adapter.

The simple but sturdy clamp mount installs easily on the edge of any desk. Spring retraction and lockable hinges provide stable microphone positioning. Novox MSX1 is a simple and affordable way to upgrade your workflow and give your microphone a place it deserves!
